RE: Lyme disease in Illinois/CT Attorney General Blumenthal

The Illinois Lyme Disease Network received a proclamation from Gov. Pat Quinn declaring May 2009 as Lyme Disease Awareness Month in our state. See our website for a copy of it.

Shortly after the Infectious Disease Society of America released their 2006 Lyme Disease guidelines, CT Attorney General Richard Blumenthal opened up an antitrust case against them. For over a year and a half they chose not to provide information to Attorney Gen. Blumenthal (i.e. scientific studies, journal entries, etc.) instead chose to settle by revamping their staunch guidelines.

The same entities at the IDSA, et. al have swindled hundreds of thousands of Uncle Sam's money by getting grants. Most of them profit off of test kits and such.

The crime they have committed and continue to commit can be proven without a shadow of doubt. The IDSA, et.al is condemning hundreds of people to a life of sickness and/or even death.

This is at epidemic proportions, yet our very own Illinois Public Health Department says there is no Lyme disease here; we do not even have ticks! The reason no one tests CDC positive is because of what happened at the FDA and Dearborn 1994 meetings.

Please view the PowerPoint presentation and read what the signers of the petition have to say. Their stories are real and it's happening all around the world, not just here. The whole world goes by the U.S. guidelines.

Ms. Madigan, this matter is not going to go away. We need your help; you pledged to help fellow Illinoisans with health matters. We need a campaign to STOP LYME DISEASE and co-infections and bring awareness.

Sincerely,

Dottie L. Heffron
Illinois Lyme Disease Network
